COUNTY-LEVEL REPORTS & RECOMMENDATIONS

TENNESSEE 2023

This Report includes county-level assessments and recommendations based on the findings of Engage Together® Project for the State of Tennessee. It is a supplemental resource to the 2023 Tennessee Statewide Community Assessment Report and the Regional Reports & Recommendations.

This Project was made possible by a grant from and the partnership of the TBI Human Trafficking Task Force, and was accomplished in collaboration with many partners, including especially the Task Force leadership, Tennessee Counter Trafficking Alliance (TCTA), Belmont University's Data Collaborative, Pomerol Partners and Qlik.

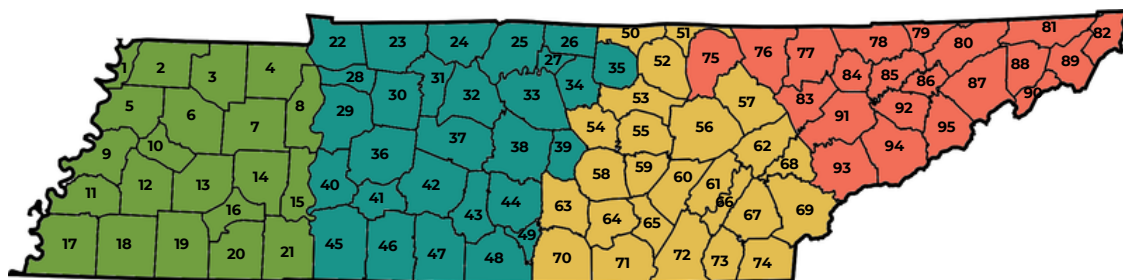

Learn more about each of these partners and download the supplemental reports by going to the Project website at engagetogether.com/project/tn.

HOW TO USE THIS REPORT

Each county-level report includes data insights and recommendations unique to that county.

Here are some helpful details on how to understand and use them.

1 Vulnerable Population index (VPI) score

Every county report includes the overall VPI score for that county, which is developed from a variety of publicly available data sources to help identify communities with a higher prevalence of the vulnerabilities that human traffickers often exploit. The higher the index score, the higher the vulnerability within that community. Learn more about the VPI at engagetogether.com/project/tn.

2 # of organizations working to address human trafficking

This number represents the number of organizations who responded in their surveys that they are presently able to serve and support your county. Importantly, it does not represent how many organizations have a physical location in the county, how accessible those services are to those who need them in your county, or how many individuals those organizations can serve. These will all be questions you'll want to ask as you build connections with the organizations available to your county. A list of those organizations and links to the Directory with contact details are on the second page of each county report.

3 Sector engagement chart

Increasing engagement of multiple sectors in your community will be key to a successful anti-trafficking effort. Those sectors that are needed include not just government agencies and nonprofits, but also businesses, educators, healthcare professionals, churches/houses of worship, civic/service clubs, individual practitioners, foundations, and professional associations. Each sector is uniquely positioned to fill gaps in your local community's strategy to end human trafficking and to provide needed support for victims, survivors, and the organizations working to help those in need in your community.

4 Programs highlighted in yellow

We highlight items in yellow to point out which program areas (primary and secondary) need to be strengthened to improve your local efforts to end human trafficking, and to care well for all those impacted by it. Learn more about program definitions at this link.

5 These reports are an assessment of your county's current efforts. Use them to catalyze the conversations, collaborations, and change that are needed to strengthen your local community's strategy.

The following section includes reports and recommendations for each of the 21 counties considered to be in the West Region by the TBI Human Trafficking Task Force, and are presented in alphabetical order. These assessments are based on both open-source and shared data gathered in 2022-2023.

COUNTIES A-Z:

Benton	Henderson
Carroll	Henry
Chester	Lake
Crockett	Lauderdale
Decatur	Madison
Dyer	McNairy
Fayette	Obion
Gibson	Shelby
Hardeman	Tipton
Hardin	Weakley
Haywood

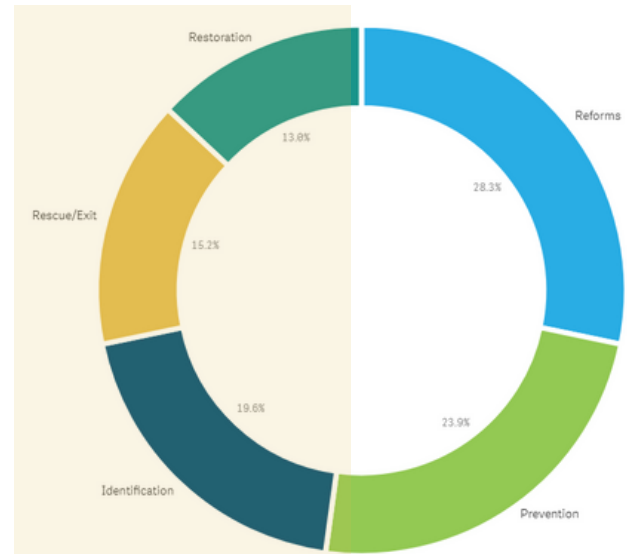

Review these reports alongside the Statewide and Regional Reports, and the Directory, for a clearer picture of the current strengths, gaps, needs, and opportunities to enhance your efforts to end and prevent human trafficking. Utilize these reports to catalyze deeper conversations, greater collaborations, and strategic planning for your local community.

PRIORITY

The primary risk factors for Crockett County citizens appear to be both socio-economic and demographic. These vulnerabilities are exploited by traffickers who target those with limited support networks and safety nets, and who are in need of a job, money, food, and/or housing. Priorities should include proactive outreach to and increased support for those who are experiencing these challenges, especially recent migrants.

ORG LIST: CROCKETT

The following list includes all those organizations that reported being able to provide services that directly address human trafficking in the county, plus those programs that reported on their efforts to support vulnerable populations in the county as well.

PRIORITY

The primary risk factor for Fayette County citizens appears to be youth vulnerabilities. This means that there is a prevalence of chronically absent, homeless, justice-involved, and/or disconnected youth, and minors with disabilities. Priorities should include proactive outreach to at-risk children and youth to help them stay safe or self report, and training all child-serving professionals to recognize and respond to human trafficking, including familial trafficking.

FINAL NOTE

Even with a lower overall VPI score, Fayette County has a very high youth vulnerability score (90%) and borders Shelby County, which is the highest risk county in the state at 100%. This means that you need to equip your community to recognize and respond to trafficking situations that are impacting your own residents and those passing through your community.

FINAL NOTE

Haywood County ranks #15 for the highest risk counties in the state of Tennessee. To expand and resource all the programs and services needed to identify victims and support survivors in your community, you will need to mobilize multiple sectors to engage. Businesses, churches/houses of worship, foundations, civic clubs, professional associations, and more will need to join the efforts of your local nonprofits and government agencies to meet needs and fill gaps. Additionally, there are no known anti-trafficking efforts with a primary location in Haywood Co. This may need to change.

FINAL NOTE

Madison County ranks #2 for the highest risk counties in the state of Tennessee. To expand and resource all the programs and services needed to identify victims and support survivors in your community, you will need to mobilize multiple sectors to engage. Businesses, churches/houses of worship, foundations, civic clubs, professional associations, and more will need to join the efforts of your local nonprofits and government agencies to meet needs and fill gaps.

PRIORITY

The primary risk factor for McNairy County citizens appears to be socio-economic. This vulnerability is exploited by traffickers who target those in need of a job, money, food, and/or housing. Priorities should include proactive outreach to and increased support for those who are experiencing these challenges, which will have a direct impact on prevention and early intervention of trafficking.

ORG LIST: MCNAIRY

The following list includes all those organizations that reported being able to provide services that directly address human trafficking in the county, plus those programs that reported on their efforts to support vulnerable populations in the county as well.

There are currently no known anti-trafficking efforts with a primary location in the county.

FINAL NOTE

McNairy Co. has a higher rate of reported trafficking-related activity than most counties in the state (70%). Given that McNairy also has a low VPI score, this means that you need to equip your community to recognize and respond to trafficking situations that are impacting your own residents and those passing through your community.

There are currently no known anti-trafficking efforts with a primary location in the county.

FINAL NOTE

Even with a lower VPI score, it is important to remember that human trafficking cases have occurred in all 95 counties in Tennessee, including Cheatham County. Prevention should remain a key focus, as well as training all those working with at-risk populations to recognize and respond to trafficking indicators.

Davidson County is at severe risk of human trafficking. Immediate priorities should include: training all healthcare, child-serving, and direct service providers to recognize and respond to both labor and sex trafficking; resourcing your local anti-trafficking organizations and those working with high-risk populations to expand accessibility of services; and strengthening the least-supported programs in your county (highlighted in yellow above and to the left).

FINAL NOTE

Davidson County ranks #3 for the highest risk counties in the state of Tennessee. To expand and resource all the programs and services needed to identify victims and support survivors in your community, you will need to mobilize multiple sectors to engage. Businesses, churches/houses of worship, foundations, civic clubs, professional associations, and more will need to join the efforts of your local nonprofits and government agencies to meet needs and fill gaps.

PRIORITY

The primary risk factor for Dickson County citizens appears to be local environment. Which means there is a prevalence of sexual assault, domestic violence, drug offenses and related crimes. Priorities should include proactive outreach to and increased support for those who are experiencing these challenges, as these crimes are often correlated with or can escalate to trafficking situations.

PRIORITY

The primary risk factor for Giles County citizens appears to be youth vulnerabilities. This means that there is a prevalence of chronically absent, homeless, justice-involved, and/or disconnected youth, and minors with disabilities. Priorities should include proactive outreach to and increased support for at-risk children and youth to help them stay safe or self report.

FINAL NOTE

Marshall Co. has a high rate of reported human trafficking-related activity (88%) and a moderate demographic vulnerability (60%). This means that local residents most at risk of trafficking (especially labor trafficking) are individuals that lack support networks and safety nets (e.g. individuals who are foreign-born or non-English-speaking, single-parent households, and individuals with disabilities). But it also means that you need to equip relevant community members to identify trafficking indicators of those passing through your community too.

PRIORITY

The primary risk factor for Robertson County citizens appears to be local environment. Which means there is a prevalence of sexual assault, domestic violence, drug offenses and related crimes. Priorities should include proactive outreach to and increased support for those who are experiencing these challenges, as these crimes are often correlated with or can escalate to trafficking situations.

ORG LIST: ROBERTSON

The following list includes all those organizations that reported being able to provide services that directly address human trafficking in the county, plus those programs that reported on their efforts to support vulnerable populations in the county as well.

FINAL NOTE

Rutherford Co. has especially high rates of both local environment (97%) and demographic vulnerabilities (94%), which means there is a prevalence of crimes that often correlate with or can escalate to trafficking (e.g. domestic violence, sexual assault, weapons or drug offenses); and those who may lack support networks and safety nets (e.g. individuals who are foreign-born or non-English-speaking, single-parent households, and individuals with disabilities). Proactive outreach to and increased support for those experiencing these challenges is critical to prevention and early intervention.

There are currently no known anti-trafficking efforts with a primary location in the county.

FINAL NOTE

Smith Co. has a higher rate of reported trafficking-related activity than its bordering counties. Given that Smith also has a low VPI score, this means that you need to equip your community to recognize and respond to trafficking situations that are impacting your own residents (particularly victims of crime) as well as those passing through.

FINAL NOTE

Bradley County ranks #5 for the highest risk counties in the state of Tennessee.

To expand and resource all the programs and services needed to identify victims and support survivors in your community, you will need to mobilize multiple sectors to engage.

Businesses, churches/houses of worship, foundations, civic clubs, professional associations, and more will need to join the efforts of your local nonprofits and government agencies to meet needs and fill gaps.

FINAL NOTE

Coffee Co. has a high rate of demographic vulnerabilities (94%), and is bordered by two counties that rank in the top 10 list of the highest risk counties for human trafficking in Tennessee, Warren (#8) and Franklin (#10). This means that local residents most at risk of trafficking (especially labor trafficking) are individuals that lack support networks and safety nets (e.g. individuals who are foreign-born or non-English-speaking, single-parent households, and migrant workers). But it also means that you need to equip relevant community members to identify trafficking indicators of those passing through your community too.

There are currently no known anti-trafficking efforts with a primary location in the county.

PRIORITY

The primary risk factor for Cumberland Co. citizens appears to be local environment. Which means there is a prevalence of sexual assault, domestic violence, drug offenses and related crimes. Priorities should include proactive outreach to and increased support for those who are experiencing these challenges, as these crimes are often correlated with or can escalate to trafficking situations.

FINAL NOTE

Grundy Co. has a high rate of socio-economic vulnerability (86%), and is bordered by three of the highest risk counties for human trafficking in Tennessee: Warren (#8), Franklin (#10), and Sequatchie (#11). This means that local residents most at risk of trafficking are those experiencing financial, housing, food, or job insecurities. Increasing outreach to and support for these individuals will be essential to prevention and early intervention. But it also means that you need to equip relevant community members to identify trafficking indicators of those passing through your community too.

HAMILTON COUNTY IS AT SEVERE RISK OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING. Immediate priorities should include: training all healthcare, child-serving, and direct service providers to recognize and respond to both labor and sex trafficking; resourcing your local anti-trafficking organizations and those working with high-risk populations to expand accessibility of services; and strengthening the least-supported programs in your county (highlighted in yellow above and to the left).

FINAL NOTE

Hamilton County ranks #4 for the highest risk counties in the state of Tennessee. To expand and resource all the programs and services needed to identify victims and support survivors in your community, you will need to mobilize multiple sectors to engage. Businesses, churches/houses of worship, foundations, civic clubs, professional associations, and more will need to join the efforts of your local nonprofits and government agencies to meet needs and fill gaps.

PRIORITY

The primary risk factors for Loudon County citizens are both local environment and demographic vulnerabilities. To strengthen prevention and early intervention, priorities should include outreach to and increased support for victims of crimes, non-English-speaking residents, families experiencing housing or financial insecurities, and drug-endangered children.

FINAL NOTE

Even with a lower VPI score, it is important to remember that human trafficking cases have occurred in all 95 counties in Tennessee, including Loudon County. Prevention should remain a key focus, as well as training all those working with at-risk populations to recognize and respond to trafficking indicators.

PRIORITY

Given the lack of data and dedicated efforts to address human trafficking in Pickett Co., priorities need to include: raising awareness in the community and training all those working with high-risk populations, especially disconnected and justice-involved youth; drug-endangered children; those experiencing DV/SA, housing, or financial insecurities; and migrant workers.

ORG LIST: PICKETT

The following list includes all those organizations that reported being able to provide services that directly address human trafficking in the county, plus those programs that reported on their efforts to support vulnerable populations in the county as well.

- WillowBend Farms, Inc.
- Women's Fund of Greater Chattanooga
- Youth Villages

There are currently no known anti-trafficking efforts with a primary location in the county.

FINAL NOTE

*Pickett County's low VPI score is due to lack of available data and is likely not a good estimate of risk for the county. Human trafficking cases have occurred in all counties in Tennessee, including Pickett.

PRIORITY

The primary risk factor for Polk County citizens appears to be local environment. Which means there is a prevalence of sexual assault, domestic violence, drug offenses and related crimes. Priorities should include proactive outreach to and increased support for those who are experiencing these challenges, as these crimes are often correlated with or can escalate to trafficking situations.

There are currently no known anti-trafficking efforts with a primary location in the county.

FINAL NOTE

Polk Co. has a higher rate of reported trafficking-related activity than most counties in the state (77%). Given that Polk also has a low VPI score, this means that you need to equip your community to recognize and respond to trafficking situations that are impacting your own residents (particularly victims of crime) and those passing through your community.

FINAL NOTE

Putnam Co. has increased rates of both demographic (76%) and local environment vulnerabilities (72%), which means there is a prevalence in your county of people who may lack support networks and safety nets (e.g. individuals who are foreign-born or non-English-speaking, single-parent households, and individuals with disabilities), and a prevalence of crimes that often correlate with or can escalate to trafficking (e.g. domestic violence, sexual assault, weapons or drug offenses). Proactive outreach to and increased support for those who are experiencing these challenges will be critical to prevention and early intervention.

FINAL NOTE

Roane Co. has high rates of reported human trafficking-related activity (96%) and local environment vulnerabilities (87%). This means that local residents most at risk of trafficking are victims of crimes that are often correlated with or can escalate to trafficking (e.g. domestic violence, sexual assault, weapons or drug offenses) and drug-endangered children. But it also means that you need to equip relevant community members to identify trafficking indicators of those passing through your community too (especially migrant workers).

PRIORITY

The primary risk factor for White County citizens appears to be socio-economic. This vulnerability is exploited by traffickers who target those in need of a job, money, food, and/or housing. Priorities should include proactive outreach to and increased support for those who are experiencing these challenges, which will have a direct impact on prevention and early intervention of trafficking.

FINAL NOTE

White Co. has a higher rate of reported trafficking-related activity than most counties in the state (76%). Given that White also has a low VPI score, this means that you need to equip your community to recognize and respond to trafficking situations that are impacting your own residents (particularly those experiencing housing and financial insecurities) and also those passing through your community.

PRIORITY

Anderson County is at severe risk of human trafficking. Immediate priorities should include: training all healthcare, child-serving, and direct service providers to recognize and respond to both labor and sex trafficking; resourcing your local anti-trafficking organizations and those working with high-risk populations to expand accessibility of services; and strengthening the least-supported programs in your county (highlighted in yellow above and to the left).

ORG LIST: ANDERSON

The following list includes all those organizations that reported being able to provide services that directly address human trafficking in the county, plus those programs that reported on their efforts to support vulnerable populations in the county as well.

FINAL NOTE

Anderson County ranks #7 for the highest risk counties in the state of Tennessee. To expand and resource all the programs and services needed to identify victims and support survivors in your community, you will need to mobilize multiple sectors to engage. Businesses, churches/houses of worship, foundations, civic clubs, professional associations, and more will need to join the efforts of your local nonprofits and government agencies to meet needs and fill gaps.

PRIORITY

The primary risk factor for Blount County citizens appears to be local environment. Which means there is a prevalence of sexual assault, domestic violence, drug offenses and related crimes. Priorities should include proactive outreach to and increased support for those who are experiencing these challenges, as these crimes are often correlated with or can escalate to trafficking situations.

Even with a lower VPI score, it is important to remember that human trafficking cases have occurred in all 95 counties in Tennessee, including Grainger County. Prevention should remain a key focus, as well as training all those working with at-risk populations to recognize and respond to trafficking indicators.

FINAL NOTE

Greene Co. has increased rates of demographic (69%) and youth vulnerabilities (60%), and is bordered by one of counties that rank in the top 10 list of the highest risk counties for human trafficking in Tennessee, Cocke (#6). This means that local residents most at risk of trafficking are those that may lack support networks and safety nets (e.g. individuals who are foreign-born or non-English-speaking, single-parent households, and migrant workers); and also at-risk youth (e.g. chronically absent, homeless, justice-involved, and/or disconnected youth, and minors with disabilities). Equipping relevant community members to identify trafficking indicators of those that live in your community and those passing through will be critical to early intervention.

There are currently no known anti-trafficking efforts with a primary location in the county.

FINAL NOTE

Sevier Co. has high rates of both local environment (88%) and demographic vulnerabilities (88%), which means there is a prevalence of crimes that often correlate with or can escalate to trafficking (e.g. domestic violence, sexual assault, weapons or drug offenses); and those who may lack support networks and safety nets (e.g. individuals who are foreign-born or non-English-speaking, single-parent households, individuals with disabilities, and drug-endangered children). Proactive outreach to and increased support for those experiencing these challenges is critical to prevention and early intervention.

There are currently no known anti-trafficking efforts with a primary location in the county.

PRIORITY

Sullivan County is at high risk of human trafficking. Immediate priorities should include: training all healthcare, child-serving, and direct service providers to recognize and respond to both labor and sex trafficking; resourcing your local anti-trafficking organizations and those working with high-risk populations to expand accessibility of services; and strengthening the least-supported programs in your county (highlighted in yellow above and to the left).

ORG LIST: SULLIVAN

The following list includes all those organizations that reported being able to provide services that directly address human trafficking in the county, plus those programs that reported on their efforts to support vulnerable populations in the county as well.

FINAL NOTE

Sullivan County ranks #18 for the highest risk counties in the state of Tennessee. To expand and resource all the programs and services needed to identify victims and support survivors in your community, you will need to mobilize multiple sectors to engage. Businesses, churches/houses of worship, foundations, civic clubs, professional associations, and more will need to join the efforts of your local nonprofits and government agencies to meet needs and fill gaps.

PRIORITY

The primary risk factor for Unicoi County citizens appears to be youth vulnerabilities. This means that there is a prevalence of chronically absent, homeless, justice-involved, and/or disconnected youth, and minors with disabilities. Priorities should include proactive outreach to and increased support for at-risk children and youth to help them stay safe or self report.

ORG LIST: UNICOI

The following list includes all those organizations that reported being able to provide services that directly address human trafficking in the county, plus those programs that reported on their efforts to support vulnerable populations in the county as well.

- United Against Slavery
- Women's Fund of Greater Chattanooga
- Youth Villages

There are currently no known anti-trafficking efforts with a primary location in the county.

FINAL NOTE

Even with a lower VPI score, it is important to remember that human trafficking cases have occurred in all 95 counties in Tennessee, including Unicoi. And particularly in counties where youth vulnerabilities are the driving risk factor, special attention needs to be paid to equipping all child-serving professionals how to recognize and respond to human trafficking, including familial trafficking.

PRIORITY

The primary risk factor for Union County citizens appears to be socio-economic. This vulnerability is exploited by traffickers who target those in need of a job, money, food, and/or housing. Priorities should include proactive outreach to and increased support for those who are experiencing these challenges, which will have a direct impact on prevention and early intervention of trafficking.

PRIORITY

The primary risk factors for Washington Co. citizens are both demographic and youth vulnerabilities. To strengthen prevention and early intervention, priorities should include outreach to and increased support for non-English-speaking residents, families experiencing housing or financial insecurities, and at-risk youth (e.g. chronically absent, homeless, justice-involved, and/or disconnected youth, and minors with disabilities).
